Players To Present First Plays

Presenting the first dramatic performances of the year this evening will be the Wartburg Players, who will give three one-act plays in the college gymnasium at 8 p. m.

Under the direction of Raymond Wilderman, new dramatics and speech instructor, the Players will present "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," a farcical satire by George Kaufman; "The Rising of the Moon," a more serious piece by Lady Gregory, and "Suppressed Desires," a subtle and sophisticated satire by Susan Glaspell, ridiculing the mania of psychoanalysis.

Playing in "If Men Played Cards as Women Do" will be Francis Neumann, junior; Hartland Schmidt, sophomore, and Robert Snyder and Fred Moherg, freshmen.

Four in "Rising."

Cast in "The Rising of the Moon" are Carl Scheffel, senior; Francis Neumann and Ralph Hanusa, juniors, and Robert Snyder, freshman.

Marie Eblen and Judy Vogel, sophomores, will appear in "Suppressed Desires," as will Robert Gronlund, senior.

Five Play Veterans.

Upperclassmen will remember seeing Robert Gronlund, Judy Vogel and Francis Neumann last year in "Sun-Up." Gronlund and Hartland Schmidt appeared in "Papa Is All" last year.

"With this staff of veterans and outstanding new talent we can expect to see a very worth-while performance," said Claude Grelling, sophomore and Players publicity chairman.

Tickets for the three plays have been on sale all week, but a limited number will be available at the doors tonight, according to the play management.

Herbert Meyer (left), sophomore from Hamler, was one of many men on the campus who joined the construction crew this week when common laborers on the gymnasium project quit in a dispute over wages. He is shown here working with a regular bricklayer on the gym section near the door.

New Officers Named Sunday For Chi Rho

Several new officers were named to serve Chi Rho, campus pre-theological society, for the coming year at the organization meeting of that group Sunday afternoon in chapel hall of Luther hall.

Named vice-president to serve under President Mel Bergin, junior, was Merill Herder, junior, who will also act as program chairman. George Roleder, junior, was named chairman of the Children's Home devotional committee. Chi Rho members conduct services at the Home every Sunday evening.

Elected head student usher for St. Paul's Lutheran church was Gerald Koehler, senior. Program committee members, in addition to Herder, are John Bowman, junior, and Edwin Roleder, freshman.

Daily devotional booklets, previously supplied to students by Chi Rho, will be given to students this year jointly by Chi Rho and the Lutheran Student association.

Members Hear Address.

After the Sunday business meeting, Chi Rho members heard an address, "Our Task in New Guinea," by the Rev. Martin Ackermann, a former missionary to New Guinea.

At the next meeting, Oct. 17, Dr. John Hiltner, co-adviser to the group, will report on the American Lutheran church convention at Fremont, Ohio.

Exactly 57 students joined the organization Sunday as new members.

Treatment Houses For Lepers Will Be Student Body Project

Treatment houses for lepers in India will be the student body project for the first semester at Wartburg. This was the decision of the students as expressed in elections held this week.

Polling 271 votes out of the 434 cast, the winning suggestion won by a decisive margin in the final election conducted Thursday during convocation. Previously the leper block had been suggested by 268 persons in the primary election held Tuesday.

Of the nine proposed projects suggested by students in Tuesday's convocation, all appeared on the final ballot. These suggestions, including the number of votes cast for each in the final election, were the following.

Scholarship fund for Indian youth, 43; Chapel-auditorium fund, 28; Lutheran Student Action, 25; interior furnishings for proposed commons, 20; campus project, 19; Greater Wartburg fund, 16; foster parent plan, 10, and Lutheran Orient mission, 4.

Treatment houses for lepers had been suggested to the student body by Dr. Carl Oberdorfer, missionary to India, in his recent visit to this campus. According to information supplied by Dr. Oberdorfer, the houses are built exclusively for the treatment and isolation of lepers and are arranged in units of three. Each house costs approximately $500, and a complete block of three would cost about $1,500. Since the student body raised $1,500 last year for the campus landscaping project, the Senate has expressed the hope that an increased number of students can turn the trick again this year.

Winning suggestion aroused considerable enthusiasm among students, as evidenced by the number of posters boosting the project and also by the decisive victory it won in the elections.

MAC Vice-Prexy Herbert Richmann

New vice-president of Wartburg's Music Appreciation club is Herbert Richmann, junior from Marion, who was elected at the organizational meeting Sunday evening in Old Main.

Elected secretary-treasurer was Raymond Heilener, sophomore from Emerson, Ill. The president, Kenneth Krueger, junior, was elected last spring.

Chosen co-advisers for the group were Dr. Robert Hieber, organ instructor, and Miss Wilma Schell, piano instructor.

Camera Club Elects

At an organizational meeting of the Camera club, held Wednesday in Luther hall, Norman Johnson, junior, was elected vice-president for the ensuing year. Richard Zimmerman, sophomore, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

James Huebner, president, was elected last spring. Historian this year will be Bert Lohr, sophomore.

Sem Senior Named As New Assistant

Robert Wiederaenders, senior at Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, was engaged this week as an assistant in the Christianity department at Wartburg.

Taking four classes in freshman Christianity, Mr. Wiederaenders will relieve part of the heavy schedules of the Rev. Alvin Klein and the Rev. Edwin Schick for the remainder of the year. Addition of these classes was necessitated in the first place by the large freshman enrollment.

Mr. Wiederaenders, who was temporary pastor of Our Saviour's Lutheran church, Rochester, Minn., the past summer, will also assist the Rev. Mr. Schick, college chaplain. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Martin Wiederaenders and a graduate of Wartburg college.

Hours For Women Changed By Dean

Hours for women students have been changed, according to Mrs. Barbara Schick, dean of women. The change was requested by the women's judicial board, which met Sept. 22 in the dean's office.

On Sunday nights, all women must return to the dormitory by 10 p. m. Daily hours for juniors and seniors have been increased from 9:30 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Elected to serve as chairman of the board was Miriam Bredow, senior. Edith Baehr, other senior member of the board, will serve as vice-chairman and group secretary.

This group has defined the term "campus" as it will be used for penalizing women students who disregard campus regulations. The girl who receives a "campus" must be in the dormitory by 7 p. m. on the specific date or dates designated, must not sign out for any reason whatsoever, will not be permitted to make or receive phone calls (except emergencies) and may have no visitors in the dormitory after 7 p. m.

They Get Into Act

Getting into the act this week were some of the women members of the Wartburg Players, shown here outside Grossmann hall preparing some of the scenery for tonight's one-act plays.

Fliehler President Of North Hall Dorm

Max Fliehler, junior, was elected president of the dorm council of North hall, men's dormitory, at an organizational meeting held recently in the cafeteria.

Those who will serve with Fliehler are James Zuehl, senior; George Roleder, junior, and Richard Zimmerman, sophomore.

Earnest F. Oppermann, acting dean of students, was introduced to the North hall residents at the meeting by James Zuehl, last year's council president, who presided.

Women Invite

Wartburg Women's club cordially invites all women students and all wives of students to a tea on Sunday, Oct. 10, from 3 to 5 p. m. in the lounge of Wartburg hall.

Convention Challenges Laymen

Next week will mark the beginning of the biennial convention of the American Lutheran church at Fremont, Ohio. It will also be a time when laymen will be able to make many major decisions, which will greatly influence the future of the church.

In the past most churches have been controlled by the clergy, much to the detriment of those churches. Fortunately, the past decade has seen a rise in the influence of laymen; it has seen an improvement in church activities as all members of the church began to take part in its functions.

America of 1948 wtinessas the examples set by prominent laymen like John Foster Dulles, who has impressed the world with Christ's message delivered before both diplomatic and ecclesiastic conventions. The Lutheran church itself has seen laymen like Wartburg's own Dr. G. J. Neumann and Dr. Carl F. Reuss become voices in the development of a vital Christian organization.

American churches have long needed the voices of laymen in their councils. The church can never expect to be operated by the clergy alone. It will be only with the active participation of laymen that the Church will find itself performing its necessary functions.

Many important recommendations by the Committee of Seven will be on the agenda at the Fremont convention. Liturgical, governmental and physical changes have been suggested. Decisions on these questions will be for laymen and clergymen alike.

World Views by Grelling

Smear Campaign Bad

Although an editorial writer should generally have his own opinions on the various problems which he treats in his column, it often happens that the views of two writers agree on a certain subject. This is the case today, for your columnist can do nothing but agree with the comment on government loyalty investigations in the atomic research circles which David E. Lilienthal gave in one of his recent speeches.

Mr. Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy commission, spoke before the American Association for the Advancement of Science about a grave danger that threatens our atomic research program. That danger can be stated in a few words—it is the ever-increasing unwillingness of top-rank scientists, technical and management experts, to go to work for the government of the United States.

Keeping ahead of foreign countries in atomic research requires a stupendous effort on the part of the whole nation. There is no such thing as an atomic "secret"; the only way we can keep the supremacy which we momentarily hold is to develop our techniques faster than other countries develop theirs. In order to do that, we need men, a special type of men—outstanding research scientists. To such men the scent of their name is a very important thing, and any, even the slightest, association with a Communist scandal may mean their ruin. Guards and investigators are all right—in their place. But guards and investigators cannot do our research for us. In order to keep our present position, we must know more and more, and we must know it first!

Even before the government began to investigate our atomic research circles, the men who worked on atomic projects were security and carefully investigated by the FBI, in accordance with a clause of the Atomic Energy act. Such a secret check-up does not harm the reputation of a man, because the general public never hears about it. But a top-rank scientist simply cannot afford to have his name associated with doubtful organizations and spattered all over the front pages of every newspaper in the country!

It is especially disquieting that this phenomenon should take place at a time when the government puts more emphasis on the importance of atomic research than at any time since the war. If this unwillingness should spread to larger groups, we shall fall behind in the race for atomic control and lose an inestimable political advantage. We Americans and our government should realize that a smear campaign against our scientists can have nothing but a deplorable effect on our own country and on the peace of the world in general.

New Instructors Say

Friendliness Is Key

Miss Wilma Scheil

Miss Helen Hoffman

Friendliness is the key to the Wartburg spirit, according to comments of two new faculty members, Miss Wilma Scheil, piano instructor, and Miss Helen Hoffman, mathematics instructor.

As to her first impression of the college students and faculty, Miss Scheil remarked that one of the first things that impressed her about Wartburg was the friendly and cooperative spirit of everyone on the campus.

This new addition to the Wartburg faculty received her bachelor's degree at North Central college, Naperville, Ill., and her master's degree from Northwestern university. During the past few summers she has studied with James Friskin of the Juilliard School of Music, New York, and Howard Wells of Chicago.

Included in the new music instructor's experience are six years of grade and elementary teaching, one year at the Dunkin School of Music, Winnetka, Ill., and three years at North Central college.

"One of my first impressions of Wartburg college was the sympathy upperclassmen hold for freshmen and also the sympathy and understanding the faculty has for its new members," commented Miss Helen Hoffman, new mathematics instructor.

"There is also a wonderful spirit of friendliness and understanding here at Wartburg," she added.

Having received her bachelor's degree from Eastern State college, Ill., and her master's degree from the University of Illinois, Miss Hoffman formerly taught in several high schools in Illinois.

She also taught in the weather department at Chanute Field, Ill., and at the University of Illinois. Last year Miss Hoffman taught at Yankton college, Yankton, S. D.

Business Manager Receives Letter From Erwin Jahr, Alumnus

Following is a letter received last week by the TRUMPET business manager, Victor Kuester, from the Rev. Erwin H. Jahr, pastor in charge of the Protestant Church Fellowship, a division of American missions, National Lutheran Council, at San Pedro, Calif.

Since the editors thought that it would be of interest to Wartburg students and alumni, it is reprinted below.

Dear Sir:

Herewith my check of $2.50 for 30 issues of the WARTBURG TRUMPET. Although it has been a long time since I "finished" at Wartburg—it was in '36—I still love my Alma Mater and am interested in the progress that is being made there now.

I was a student there when co-education was introduced. If my memory serves me correctly, the first three coeds (and there were only three) were girls by the names of Meyer, Musick and Barnthisel. They certainly were a novelty for the 65 or 70 male students enrolled at that time. Where these ladies are now I, of course, do not know, much as I would like to.

Wartburg has certainly come along in recent years. I do hope, however, that Old Main—"cheese-box," as we called it—will remain as a landmark.

This past summer I was happy to hear the choir sing at Long Beach. They gave a good account of themselves and I was rather proud of being an alumnus of Waverly's Wartburg.

I was interested in baseball while attending Wartburg and played at first base. Two of my fellow teammates were Rev. Fred Roemer, now pastor at Austin, Texas, and Alexander Schauer, known as "Rube" Schauer. He became a pitcher for the New York Giants several years later. We had a fairly good baseball team at Wartburg, winning more games than we lost.

I am certainly happy to learn of the fine progress that is being made at Wartburg. May God continue to protect and prosper the school.

Sincerely,
Erwin H. Jahr

DID ANYONE NOTICE that on the morning of Outfity the freshmen were so ill-humored and the upperclassmen so jovial? Outfity must grow on students.

EVERYONE'S ATTENTION has been focused on the growth of Wartburg, and we should take note that the organ class has also grown in number from few to many.

FRESHMAN GIRLS, take notice! A telephone has been installed on the second floor of North hall. Phone 583 for your upperclassmen dates, freshies. (This advertisement sponsored by the North Hall Political Action committee.)

CAMERA CLUB MEMBERS are still hoping for the better. Are any photogenic freshmen girls going to attend meetings this year? According to officers, the others had their chance last year, so the freshman girls get first chance this year.

SPEAKING OF OUTFLY reminds us that Cupid certainly took advantage of it again this year. Not only did some freshmen get their upperclassman dates lined up, but others stepped out of bounds a little and were actually seen with other freshmen.

Knights Roll Wesleyan 32-6

from Engel's Angle

Wartburg's football squad had an open date last week, so Coach Nelson has taken advantage of this rest to teach the boys some razzle-dazzle football that may keep opponents guessing. The other night during practice four boys bad their hands on the ball outside the center, all on the same play.

Buena Vista will furnish the opposition in the home opener on Oct. 8. The Beavers lost a close game last week when Dubuque eked out a 7-6 win. Upper Iowa boys served notice of being tough again this year when they dumped Simpson, 20-0.

It is interesting to note that Notre , Dame's football team caused some excitement last week when it used a double T formation against Purdue. One of the quarterbacks took the ball while the other faked to fool the opposing linemen. Many called this something new and fancy and the first time it had been used in major football.

Perhaps Wartburg isn't called a major football team, but it seems that it has been using a variation of this system for the last two years. The Knights call it a box system which Coach Nelson, together with another man, concocted while serving in the Navy.

There were just a few surprises last week in the gridiron sport. Nebraska did win its ball game, but it didn't scalp Iowa State as badly as was expected. The biggest surprise of all was the trouncing Wisconsin took from George Taliaferro and the Hoosiers. Taliaferro, a colored boy, is handy with a football. Iowa's Hawkeyes will find that out this weekend when they meet Indiana.

Next week begins one of the biggest of all sport spectacles when the World Series opens in Boston. The Boston Braves are already in as the National League representative, while Cleveland is out in front by two games with only three games remaining. This should be an interesting Series with some pitching duels in the making if Cleveland comes out on top. Bob Feller, Iowa speedballer, will be making his first Series appearance.

Wartburg Knights rolled over the Iowa Wesleyan Tigers with an impressive 32-6 win in an Iowa conference game at Mount Pleasant last night.

In a game that started slow, with both teams fumbling several times, the Wartburg machine finally began to roll and did not stop until Hanus and Co. had rolled up a total of 343 yards for 13 first downs and five touchdowns.

Hanus Drives Through.

Hanus' power drives through the line, with which he scored two of the touchdowns, the two dazzling runs by Bill Fredrick and Paul Bruns and Klatt's touchdown grab in the end-zone highlighted the tilt.

Knights' first score came midway in the first quarter when they recovered a Tiger fumble and moved to the Wesleyan nine-yard line. Lynn Brown, stellar Knight halfback, then threw a pass to Klatt, who went high into the air and plucked the ball right out of the outstretched hands of a Tiger defensive man in the end zone for the score. Keith MacDougel's attempted conversion failed.

In the second period, with Hanus carrying the brunt of the attack, the Knights moved from their own 29-yard line for the second tally. The Tama Express bulled over from the four for the score. This drive was aided by a 33 yard pass by MacDougal, who faking a kick, passed to Lloyd Koob instead. Again "Mac's" try for the extra point was no good.

Threat In Third.

Iowa Wesleyan's only serious threat came in the third period when it racked up a couple of first downs and scored on a 14-yard pass, Carnahan to Conn, after Clark had faked a kick and had raced 23 yards to the 50.

Led by Hanus, who alone carried the mail for 101 yards, the Knights opened up with both barrels.

Bill Fredrick, who again played a bang-up game, both defensively and offensively, intercepted a Tiger pass at midfield and raced 50 yards down the sidelines for the Nelsonian's third score. Bill Hansen, game captain and also a defensive star, converted and the Knights led 19-6.

Seconds later, the Black and Orange again took over on their own 39-yard stripe. Paul Bruns, a speedy Knight back, broke loose and streaked to the Tiger ten for a beautiful 51-yard run. Several plays later, Fredrick smashed over for his second TD of the evening. Hansen converted.

Platte Intercepts.

Wartburg kicked off but took over immediately when Knight quarterback, Waldo Platte, intercepted a Wesleyan pass on the Wartburg 40. Hanus carried it to midfield. A nifty pass, Platte to end "Swede" Wolken, netted 41 yards. Hanus cracked over from the 11 for his second TD of the night, and the Knights led 32-6.

Iowa Wesleyan tried to score in the last period, but a fine goal-line stand by the Knight defensive team prevented it. Wesleyan's Conn had raced from the Wartburg 42 to the 3, where he was caught from behind by Klatt. The Knight line held for three plays, and Frederick recovered a Tiger fumble on the next try.

Wartburg was moving downfield for another score and had rolled up three more first downs before time ran out.

Bill Hansen Leads Wartburg As Team's First String Center

Bill Hansen, 21-year-old senior from Waverly, led the Wartburg Knights into battle Friday night against Iowa Wesleyan. Coach Melvin Nelson's selection plays first-string center.

Bill has considerable experience, this being his fourth year of football at Wartburg, and lettering three times. The first two years he played fullback; the last two he is playing at center. Despite his complete lack of high school experience, he is one of the king-pins in the Knight forward wall.

Captain Hansen is a liberal arts student, majoring in physical education. He plans on a coaching career. Besides playing football, he plays baseball, in which he lettered during his freshman and sophomore years.

Family life and extracurricular activities keep Bill somewhat tied down. He is married to a local girl, and they have a six-week-old son. Like so many other Knights, he has caught pinochle fever and manages to get into several games a day with his football teammates.

Bill builds model airplanes and claims photography as another one of his hobbies. The husky center has his own developing set and does all his own printing.

Bill is also an active member of the "W" club and the Future Teachers association.

WAA Plans To Meet Next Wednesday

Women's Athletic association will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the gymnasium, according to Miss Mildred Soma, adviser and head of the women's physical education department.

All old members and students wishing to join WAA are invited to attend the organizational meeting. Plans for the year include tournaments in badminton, table tennis, horseshoe, volleyball, basketball, archery and tennis.

Each dormitory or annex will be permitted to enter one or two teams, and off campus women may enter two teams. Notices of the scheduled dates for tournaments will be posted.

All old members are urged to turn their points in to the acting president, Mary Alke, sophomore. Points may be carried over from year to year.

'B' Schedule Given

Football schedule of at least three games for Wartburg's "B" team was announced yesterday by Earnest F. Oppermann, "B" team coach.

First game will be Oct. 7, when the Squires will play Dubuque in Waverly. Oct. 19 they will play host to the Luther "B" team, and on Oct. 28 they will play Buena Vista there.

Tentative on the schedule is a game with either the Coe or Teachers college freshmen.

Nearly Half of Choir New

Nearly half of the members of the Wartburg a cappella choir are new to the organization, according to the membership list released this week by Dr. Edwin Liemohn, director and head of the college music department.

As many as 53 students have been admitted to the choir, 22 being new members and 31 being former members. Three of the 31 former members were not in the choir last year, but were in it before that.

Officers of the choir for the current school year are Walter Rath, senior, president; Kenneth Krueger, junior, vice-president, and Doris Heerboldt, sophomore, secretary-treasurer.

Members Listed.

Following is the complete choir list as released by Dr. Liemohn:

Intense Hatred of Soviet Policies Brought Out By Dr. Bodensieck

Intense hostility to Soviet Russia's policies in Europe was brought out by Dr. Julius Bodensieck, former liaison officer between the German Protestant churches and the American Military Government, both in his address at convocation Thursday and in an interview with a TRUMPET reporter.

President of Wartburg Seminary in Dubuque until his resignation while serving in Germany, Dr. Bodensieck has returned to the seminary as professor of New Testament. He was accompanied to the college by Mrs. Bodensieck, who worked with displaced persons in Germany following the war.

Citing an example of resistance to Soviet domination in the Eastern zone of Germany, Dr. Bodensieck stated that in answer to a Russian ban on religious education, the church issued a call for religious instructors and received 20,000 acceptable applications from young religious leaders in the zone.

"An influential individual lands at Berlin's airport, takes a five-mile taxi ride to an American owned hotel and eats a big meal; afterwards he meets a reporter and tells him that he has seen no starving children in Germany," said Dr. Bodensieck when asked if reports of "no real need in Germany" were true.

Dr. Bodensieck assured the reporter that the need in Germany is still great, especially among theological students. He reported that one theological student was proud because he had a good pair of shoes which he was renting for 10 marks a week.

Wartburg is not alone in sending help to Germany, according to the seminary professor, but many other schools, including Princeton, are sending relief packages to Europe. Dr. Bodensieck believes Wartburg students could do a special service by earmarking some packages for the Christian-Jews in Germany, who have no source of relief.

Dr. and Mrs. Bodensieck have a high respect for the women and youth of Germany. He decried the use of the word "immoral" to describe modern German youth.
